

Interesting articles and facts on philosophy

<https://stemhave.com/programming-help.html>

How to prove that we do not live in the matrix? Myths and reality

After going to the wide screen of the film "Matrix" and its continuations, many people thought: and indeed, do we all live in the matrix? How to prove that it's really wrong?

Read more ...

The ratio of religion and science myths and reality

This saturated article describes all aspects of relationships between religion (on the example of Christianity) and science, the history of their coexistence, their similarities and differences. The article is clearly argued, and on a large number of examples demonstrates that there is no contradictions between religion and science.

Read more ...

What was the first - chicken or egg? Myths and reality

Many people seem to be about this popular question there is still some intrigue. However, science has long gave response to him: the first egg was.

Read more ...